Posted on October 15, 2013 by Keghart

Category: Did You Know?

According to Swedish legend from the 10th or 11th century, a navigator called Petus was enchanted by the beauty of an Armenian princess, traveled to Armenia searching for her. After many adventures, he finally found her and married her.

According to Swedish legend from the 10th or 11th century, a navigator called Petus was enchanted by the beauty of an Armenian princess, traveled to Armenia searching for her. After many adventures, he finally found her and married her.