

Posted on June 21, 2011 by Keghart

Category: Did You Know?

Turkish baths are not Turkish. The hot baths had been in Anatolia for thousands of years with the Lydians, Romans and Byzantines indulging in them. Arabs adopted hot baths when they discovered Greek and Roman ones in Syria. Turks learned from the Arabs. It's unlikely that there were hot baths in the Gobi Desert, the homeland of the Turks.

Turkish baths are not Turkish. The hot baths had been in Anatolia for thousands of years with the Lydians, Romans and Byzantines indulging in them. Arabs adopted hot baths when they discovered Greek and Roman ones in Syria. Turks learned from the Arabs. It's unlikely that there were hot baths in the Gobi Desert, the homeland of the Turks.

