

Posted on June 21, 2011 by Keghart

Category: Did You Know?

"Peace-loving" Ghandi was a huge supporter of the violent Khalifat movement in India in the '20s. The Muslim group opposed recognition of the Genocide of Armenians. Thus Armenians found their request for British diplomatic support falling on deaf ears because of London's fears of provoking the violent Khalifat.

"Peace-loving" Ghandi was a huge supporter of the violent Khalifat movement in India in the '20s. The Muslim group opposed recognition of the Genocide of Armenians. Thus Armenians found their request for British diplomatic support falling on deaf ears because of London's fears of provoking the violent Khalifat.

