Posted on September 5, 2011 by Keghart

Category: Did You Know?

The Sanskrit “devas” (god) is the origin of the Latin “deus.” In turn, deus is the origin of Iupiter (Jupiter) in Latin and Zeus (Greek). Anglo-Saxon god Tiw (Tuesday is named after him) derives from devas. The Armenian “dev” (giant, monster) also originates in devas.

The Sanskrit “devas” (god) is the origin of the Latin “deus.” In turn, deus is the origin of Iupiter (Jupiter) in Latin and Zeus (Greek). Anglo-Saxon god Tiw (Tuesday is named after him) derives from devas. The Armenian “dev” (giant, monster) also originates in devas.