Posted on April 14, 2013 by Keghart

Category: Did You Know?

The famous General Nerseh (called Narses in Byzantium) had an equally-skilled brother, Hrahad (Aratius in Greek). The brothers descended from the prominent Gamsaragan nakharar (princely) family. Years before commanding the armies of Byzantium, Nerseh and his brother won a stunning victory over Belisarius and Sittas—the superstars of the Byzantium military.

The famous General Nerseh (called Narses in Byzantium) had an equally-skilled brother, Hrahad (Aratius in Greek). The brothers descended from the prominent Gamsaragan nakharar (princely) family. Years before commanding the armies of Byzantium, Nerseh and his brother won a stunning victory over Belisarius and Sittas—the superstars of the Byzantium military.