

Posted on May 26, 2013 by Keghart

Category: Did You Know?

Traders from Armenia frequented the Indian subcontinent as early as 2000 BC. Winding their way along tortuous mountains and following the Silk Road through Iran and Afghanistan they headed to India for the spices, muslin, and precious stones. ("The Daily Star", Dhaka, Sept. 4, 2006)

Traders from Armenia frequented the Indian subcontinent as early as 2000 BC. Winding their way along tortuous mountains and following the Silk Road through Iran and Afghanistan they headed to India for the spices, muslin, and precious stones. ("The Daily Star", Dhaka, Sept. 4, 2006)

