

Posted on May 26, 2013 by Keghart

Category: Did You Know?

While some people believe that the first Christian edifice in the world is the Monastery of St. Anthony in the eastern desert of Egypt, the historical reality is claimed by the Monastery of St. Echmiadzin which was built in 303 A.D.

While some people believe that the first Christian edifice in the world is the Monastery of St. Anthony in the eastern desert of Egypt, the historical reality is claimed by the Monastery of St. Echmiadzin which was built in 303 A.D.

