Hrant Bagratyan, the ex-PM of Armenia, says that Armenians have 6,500 churches for 9 million people. That's one church per 1,450 people. "Only the Greeks have higher density," he says. Bagratyan estimates that $30 billion has been spent to build the churches which cost $400 million per annum in wear and tear. Catholicos Karekin II leads the drive to build more churches to fight "sects and cults" which have penetrated Armenia in recent years.
