

BORROWED MILITARY WORDS FROM CRUSADERS

Posted on September 30, 2014 by Keghart

Category: Did You Know?

Cilician Armenians borrowed a number of administrative and military words from their ally Crusaders. Among the European words were seneschal, bail, chancelier, legat (lege), duc (took), baron, and sire (gir).

Cilician Armenians borrowed a number of administrative and military words from their ally Crusaders. Among the European words were seneschal, bail, chancelier, legat (lege), duc (took), baron, and sire (gir).

