Baby Aliyev aka Aliyev Jr. aka Ilham Aliyev has a book dedicated to his "glorious" life. "ILHAM" by Graeme H. Wilson is a "highly engrossing book which gives an account of how after a career as a scholar, historian and businessman, Aliyev was able to achieve the highest political position in Azerbaijan and lead it into an era of prosperity through good governance." There's no mention in promotional blurb that he is the son of the previous dictator. The book, by Author House of Britain, was commissioned and paid for by the Azerbaijan government. Author House has also published the works of such well-known literary superstars as Len Camada, Jodi Stiris, Rasna Warah, Rayner Thind, Latika Tripathi, Wikton Moszczynski, Yemi Elegunde and Nicky Dalladay. You pay the publisher and you get your vanity book.
