The hero of Jamie Frederic Metzls 2014 "Genesis Code" thriller is journalist Dikran "Rich" Azadian. The novel explores the consequences of advances in human genetics in international politics. While researching his book, Metzls learned a great deal about Armenians and their history. A partner at a New York investment firm and a Senior Fellow for Technology and National Security at the Brent Scowcroft Center of the Atlantic Council Society, Metzls is planning a sequel to the novel, with Azadian again as the main character.
