Prof. Khatchatur I. Pilikian, London UK, 20 July 2011
On July 13th, 2011, the Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Republic of Armenia, H.E. Edward Nalbandian presented a speech at the IISS, The International Institute for Strategic Studies, at Arundel House, London, UK. His speech was on The Security Challenges in the Foreign Policy of Armenia. The dignified quality of his speech, the detailed and pertinent responses he delivered during the Question & Answer session were exemplary.

Albeit, I thought it's only fair to record the details of the question I raised there and then, related with a mind bugling interview published in February of the current year. There, a disturbing theorising was advanced concerning, among others, the strategic situation of the world in which Armenia is part of. Here it is, first in English, then in Armenian, the expanded form of the question I raised, to which Dr Nalbandian responded with an English panache of a 'no comment', excusing himself for not being a scientist to evaluate the 'theory of a single scientist'.

A prominent Armenian activist, the mathematician Mareh Hakobian, member of the Social Eco-Contract, has signed an open letter to the President of the Republic of Armenia, Serge Sargissian, requesting an official response to a very disturbing news published in the renowned newspaper of the Russian Federation, titled Arguments & Facts, «Аргументы и Факты» («АиФ»), №8; 23.02.2011. It is an interview carried by Saveli Gashnitsky with the Academician, Prof, Oleg Feigin, Director of the Theoretical Physics Section of the Ukrainian Academy of Sciences.
Here is in a nutshell the disturbing news -- what I gathered from the open letter, in Armenian, to the President Sargissian, of May 2nd 2011, published in the website, Hetq.am, and of May 3rd 2011, in Nor Khosq.net.

The formidable nuclear arsenals notwithstanding, of both the United States of America and the former Soviet Union, now the Russian Federation, they also have developed and experimented the so-called Lithosphere weapon of subterranean nuclear explosions, the result of which are:

- The earthquake of Armenia of 07/12/1988 with over 25,000 thousands of the Armenian population perished.
- The enormous tsunami of 26/12/2004 in the Indian Ocean.
- The earthquake of Haiti of 12/01/2010.
- The forthcoming one is planned for Tehran.

The Armenian scientist speculates about the above interview, advancing the possibility of such Lithosphere weapon being used in the Pacific Ocean, causing the latest horrendous tragedy in Japan of 11/03/2011.

I do hope and pray that all the above is downright misguided speculation, albeit emanating from a high calibre member of an Academy of Sciences.

I humbly think that a swift response from our Armenian Government and Armenian Academy of Sciences can dissipate such worrying rumours.
