

LONG-TIME JOURNALIST

Posted on February 2, 2016 by Keghart

Category: Did You Know?

Robert Ajemian, who died at the age of 85 in September 2015, was Washington bureau chief of TIME magazine in the '70s. He started covering presidential campaign in 1952 for TIME-LIFE became foreign correspondent, political editor and assistant managing editor at LIFE magazine.

Robert Ajemian, who died at the age of 85 in September 2015, was Washington bureau chief of TIME magazine in the '70s. He started covering presidential campaign in 1952 for TIME-LIFE became foreign correspondent, political editor and assistant managing editor at LIFE magazine.

