

TALENTED MINORITY

Posted on May 12, 2016 by Keghart

Category: Did You Know?

Historian P. Charanis wrote in 1959: "The important role played in the history of Byzantium by the talented minority--the Armenians--has been generally unrecognized." Bishops, architects, important military figures, and one out of five emperors were Armenian. The famous Emperor Heraclius had an Armenian father and a Cappadocian mother.

Historian P. Charanis wrote in 1959: "The important role played in the history of Byzantium by the talented minority--the Armenians--has been generally unrecognized." Bishops, architects, important military figures, and one out of five emperors were Armenian. The famous Emperor Heraclius had an Armenian father and a Cappadocian mother.

