Dear Reader,

Keghart.com celebrated its 11th birthday this month. You may recall that it halted operations as an online magazine two years ago. Since then, the website was primarily a blog without the complement of an editorial board.

Due to unforeseen circumstances, as of October 1, 2018, articles will not to be posted. On exceedingly rare occasions significant announcements and petitions may appear at the discretion of the website owner. Readers may continue to post their comments. All data -- e-mail addresses and accumulated material -- will be preserved.

Once more, I'd like to thank the contributors and you, the Keghart.com reader, who followed the site and kept it going.

Respectfully,

Dikran Abrahamian MD
